"The Only McNichols Lends You."

Oh, come into the garden, Mand. The fresh young man invites. I never girl, is this that I said. The snapping-beetle bites. And I have just found a do. I am soon to marry you. I'll have to make a home. But we've so little money, dear. Housekeeping rights a man. Now just how I must proceed. We've done this out before. My mother finds all that we need in this well-furnished store. You get the house, or modest flat—Even room—what else you will. The rest—well, I'll attend to that; I'm not scared at the bill. Your earnings, though, however small. I'll manage with. The prettiest furnishings, and all that one can desire. First, Carpet—gold, with red and vine—And Curtains, Pictures, Chaises The furniture will seem so fine. Our folks will turn out there. With painted dishes, set a board. And Folding-Beds, a stove. A Gasoline the best—be sure. You'll never wish, nor covet.

Who could regret such a pleasant home as this charming young woman proposes? Who would not at once see the policy and economy in the weekly payment plan, whereby you save money and live in luxury by going to

PARIS' HOLOCAUST.

BURNING OF THE OPERA COMIQUE IN THE FRENCH CAPITAL.

Hanging Scenes Set on Fire by a Gas Jet—Rapid Spread of the Flames to All Parts of the Theater—A Terrible Panic Among the Audience and Players—The Exact Number of Lives Lost Not Known, but Greatly in Excess of the Number First Reported—Over Forty Bodies Recovered.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, May 26.—All Paris is thrown into consternation by one of the largest and most disastrous fires known for years. About 9 o'clock last night people from all quarters of the city were attracted by a red glare in the sky in the direction of the Boulevard de l'Opera. It was immediately apparent that it was due to a great conflagration, and half a mile before the boulevard was reached the people one met on the street said that the Opera Comique was in flames. On reaching the scene the cause of the disaster was seen. A gas jet, which crossed the top of the stage, immediately set the hanging scenes caught fire. Some of the audience immediately quitted the theater. Those who got out first saw there was no panic, but after they left the scene was a fearful one. The frightened ballet-girls jumped into the body of the hall and tried to run for the doors. Soon after 9 o'clock the houses in the streets around were ordered to turn out their gas to avoid explosion. The police guarded the various approaches. About 10 o'clock bodies were handed out of the upper stories of the gutted building. At 10:30 p.m. the fire was still burning, and a report that there are at least sixty dead, mostly employees of the theater and members of the corps de ballet, who are lying at the various police stations in the neighborhood. It is impossible to say how many of the audience are lost. Some gas d'armes who were in the upper gallery say that when they escaped there were about one hundred people in the gallery. Most likely these escaped to the roof. It is almost certain, however, that the loss of life was greater than yet known, though the Opera Comique was considered as being one of the best theaters in the world. In case of fire at the National Library the Post-Dispatch correspondent saw seven female and five male corpses. At the pharmacy in Rue Favart, several people were lying about dead and several others injured. A cordon of troops and police rendered all approach to the theater impossible, and even the fire had practically been extinguished.

PLACING THE BLAME.

Further inquiry shows that the survivors throw the blame of the calamity upon the gas man. This can not be decided. The iron curtain, which might have delayed the progress of the flames, either would not work, or no attempt was made to work it in the prevailing panic. The whole house was in a blaze in ten minutes. The stage staircase was the first to be destroyed. A man and a woman in the fourth gallery leaped into the street and were killed. Four women were found huddled together in the body of the theater where they had died of suffocation. There is a report that some ladies were found dead in the stage boxes. The firemen worked nobly. Unfortunately there were some deaths among them. A private fell from a wall to the middle of the stage, and was killed. A corporal met with a similar fate. Soulaireux, the basso, escaped by the window of a lodge by a rope, and fell upon the glass shelter over the door. His face was covered with blood. Mile. Assaily, the first danseuse, was nearly suffocated. There was no time to change dresses. They barely escaped with their lives.

A SINGER'S STATEMENT.

Soulaireux, the basso, gave the Post-Dispatch correspondent his experience in the first scene during the water. He said: "Every one on the stage stage looks up. In raising our heads we saw a fire burning. Not wishing to give any alarm, I dragged Mile. Marguillier off the stage. Taskin, the tenor, went to the front of the stage and said, 'Ladies and gentlemen, don't be alarmed. There is danger. The danger is not serious. I am sealing the fire, rushed for the door. The panic was increased by the ladies in Balnoire No. 8, shrieking. The house holds 1,800, and it was nearly full. There were 350 in the upper galleries. There was a terrible commotion each side. Children holding their children over their heads were overcome by the smoke and trampled on. All the lights went out, and except when there was an explosion of gas all was buried in darkness.' One man in the fourth gallery says he escaped only by walking over the corpses. It is feared there may be hundreds in the ruins. It will be impossible to say for a few days.

THE POST-DISPATCH correspondent has just seen the Prefect of Police, who was present throughout. The official report states that thirteen were killed by jumping into the street. No examination of the ruins is yet possible, as the fire is still burning, but the Prefect feared that many of the audience were in the ruins.

BODIES LYING IN HEAPS.

PARIS, May 26.—The bodies of ballet-dancers who lost their lives by the burning of the Opera Comique, last night, are lying in heaps in the ruins of the theater. The firemen said that many bodies are lying in the upper galleries. The number of persons killed greatly exceeds the previous estimates. An excited crowd surrounded the ruins, which are guarded by a military cordon. Many distressing scenes are witnessed.

THIRTY BODIES RECOVERED.

3 p.m.—Twenty bodies, in a terribly mutilated condition, have been recovered from the ruins. The remains are principally those of ballet girls, chorists and machinists. Five of the bodies are those of elderly ladies, and one of them is that of a child. The firemen are lowering some of the bodies from the fourth story of the theater by means of ropes.

THIRTY MORE BODIES RECOVERED.

4 p.m.—Twenty more bodies were recovered

this afternoon from the ruins of the Opera Comique. The search for victims still continues.

MANY BODIES IN THE GALLERIES.

The remains of three men and two women were found in the stage-box, where the victims had taken refuge from the flames. It is ascertained that many bodies lie buried in the debris in the upper galleries, whence escape was exceedingly difficult. The Government propose to close several of the Paris theaters because of their deficiency in exits. Late this afternoon the bodies of eighteen ladies, all in full dress, were found lying together at the bottom of the staircase leading from the second story. These ladies all had escorts to the theater, but no remains of men were found anywhere near where the women were burned to death. The walls of the theater began falling this evening and the search for the bodies had to be abandoned for the day. The library attached to the theater was entirely destroyed, with all its contents, including many valuable scores. Six thousand costumes were burned in the wardrobe.

LABOR NEWS.

Fixing the Iron-Workers' Wage Scale—Chicago Builders' Troubles.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 26.—An important but very quiet meeting of the Western Iron Association was held yesterday afternoon. Notices of the gathering were issued by President A. F. Keatinge a few days ago and every important member embraced in the organization was present. The subject of the meeting was to discuss the wages for next year and to appoint the committee to confer with a similar body from the Amalgamated Association. It was difficult to obtain information on the details of the iron masters, but it was definitely learned that the scale will not be as quickly arranged as last year. A discussion of the subject shows that the unusually heavy importations of foreign material have greatly affected the industry in this country. The iron masters are continuing the past few weeks it will be impossible to pay the present scale of wages, it was argued. The Amalgamated Association, it is understood, as already stated, will demand the scale of 1885-86, which is practically an increase of 10 percent. No conference committee was appointed, the matter being left to the members in the different districts.

The Builders' strike.

CHICAGO, May 26.—About twenty-five non-union bricklayers came in this morning from Eastern cities and towns. Four of these were persuaded by the bricklayers to enlist in the armies of strikers now walking the streets, waiting for something to do. The union men are holding regular meetings every day, at which the movements of the pickets are being thoroughly studied, and the pickets, who are detailed at various depots to receive newcomers and influence them to join the union, will make their reports to this committee.

JUDGE NOONAN'S DOCKET

Run Through Again To-Day by Acting-Judge Paxson.

Provisional Judge Paxson again occupied the bench in the Court of Criminal Correction this morning.

Noah Anderson had a preliminary examination on a charge of making an assault to kill on Horace Young, and was held for the Grand Jury in the sum of $200.

W. Roeder was tried for assault and battery on the person of George Claborn.

The case of assault to kill against George Claborn was dismissed for want of prosecution.

Maggie Gleason admitted stealing $5 from the store of J. W. Roeder.

John Rushon was given thirty days in jail for stealing $1 worth of lead pipes from a vacant house owned by Marcus A. Wolf.

Louis Treyster of the Dime Museum and Bart Johnson, who has some privileges up there, was tried for an assault and battery on Michael Nibbe, an actor now performing at the Palace Theater, but formerly engaged at the Museum. Treyster and Johnson had some quarrel, and Nibbe was whipped.

They were fined $3 and costs each.

LIVED ON THE TOP SHELF.

A Yankee Lad Has a Good Time With Stolen Money.

CHICAGO, May 26.—Detectives this morning arrested John W. Rose and Ed T. Kinney, two young men 17 years of age, who are wanted by the police of Cambridgeport, Mass. Rose's mother conducts a boarding-house in that city, and had a recent lodger by the name of Crocker who had $1,400 in cash. Young Rose broke into Crocker's room and stole the money. He was taken to the police station, and the case is now pending.

EMBEZZLER HOKE.

The Hearing of Evidence in the Sensational Trial at Peoria, Ill.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

PEORIA, Ill., May 26.—The hearing of evidence in the Hoke trial was commenced this morning. The defense made no opening statement, and Thaddeus S. Ely, assistant cashier, was the first witness called. He testified to the organization of the bank, identified the $1,000 draft, for which Hoke is on trial, and was extradited, and a $400 one also forged. Ely was still on the stand at the noon adjournment.

Illinois Legislature.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 26.—The Senate spent the greater part of the morning in reading a third time the Senate revenue bill, which will not be completed until late this afternoon. The House this morning, after a lengthy discussion, sent to the committee on the bill which creates a State Board of Commissioners, with authority to set aside one of the State penitentiaries for a reformatory prison. The bill was adopted as a substitute to the one appropriating $100,000 for the construction of a reformatory at Joliet Prison.

Quarrelled Over Dice.

At 5:30 this morning Thomas F. Russell, engineer at McDowell's steam forge, had a dispute in the saloon at Eleventh street and Park avenue with the bartender, David J. Cartwright, over a game of billiards. Cartwright, who was drunk, drew his revolver and fired two shots at Russell, but neither of them took effect. The two men were arrested by Officer Andre and charged with disturbing the peace, preferred against them.

Tustin-Collins.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 26.—Mr. Robert Tustin of Kansas City and Miss Corina Collins of Arrow Rock, were married at high noon at the Presbyterian Church. Miss Collins is a beautiful young lady and has a large acquaintance in society in this city.

Second District Court.

Only seventeen cases were called this morning. Fred Conner was fined $10 for having overcome the discipline of his wife by beating her with a stick. Rachel Thomas, $10 for disturbance. Bill Price, by Taylor, James Ryan, Robert Boyle, Frank Byers and James Carroll, $20 each for kidnapping.

Condition of the German Crown Prince—Emperor Francis Joseph's Speech to the Hungarian Diet—A Dynamite Outrage in Russia—Tory Charges Against Farnell—Italy and the Vatican—The Strike in Belgium—Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, May 26.—A Berlin correspondent says: "I have just seen Dr. Virchow, the leading German pathologist, who has been in attendance on the Crown Prince, and he assures me that, according to his most careful examinations, he is confident that the affection of the throat is neither parasitic nor gangrenous, and is, therefore, absolutely without danger. It is, however, very obstinate, and its complete recovery will take some time. His Highness is suffering from a swelling at one side of the larynx, which prevents him from making full use of his voice. The other German authorities, who have attended the Crown Prince, say there is nothing serious in the complaint, and that a complete recovery is to be looked for. No operation, properly speaking, has taken place; but a small portion of the obstruction was taken out of the throat and examined by Dr. Virchow, with the result above stated. Owing to the complete absence of the malignant symptoms, it is said, have come to the conclusion that an operation is not needed, but that continued inhalations and cauterizations will be sufficient. His Highness must, however, take great care of himself and avoid dust or over exertion which accounts for his absence from the military reviews."
